NUMB. 1766

MONDAY, APRIL 6. 1741

arriv'd a Mail from France, and another from Flanders.

Stockholm, March 19. N. S.

THE King has just made a great Promotion of Officers, both Military and Civil. The Prosecution of the Baron de Gyllenstierna is carry'd on very warmly. This Gentleman was not only Secretary to the Count de Gyllembourg, but he sat also in the said Quality of Secretary in the Secret of both the last and present Dyets. Twelve other Persons who are said to have had an Intimacy with him, are also taken up, and will be examined. The Secretary to the Duke of Mecklenburg has had a Compliment made him by the Count, since which he finds that the Air of the Count does not agree with him. The Count is a near Relation to the Count of that Name, who is Colonel of a Regiment of Cuirassiers in the Army of the King of Denmark, is likewise set to leave the Kingdom.

March 24. N. S. The Committee appointed by the Dyet to examine the Baron de Gyllenstierna's Papers, have reported, That for several Years he had carried on a Correspondence with M. Bestuchef, the Russian Minister, from whom he had taken Bribes to the most important Transactions in the Empire. The Secret Committee of the Dyet, as well as the Negotiations with Foreign Powers; that for several Years he us'd to let himself into that Minister's Apartments at Night-time, thro' a Back-door of which he used to go, to prevent his being seen by the Doctor, that other Persons, whose Names he had given out, that their Stay there was more or less for the Measures to be concerted in favour of the Russian Affairs, and that all this Correspondence had been carried on for great Sums of Money. It appears that M. Bestuchef was made acquainted with most of the Letters of the Count de Tessin who is at Paris, and most secret Accounts given by Messieurs Hoppe and Carlsson the Ministers at Constantinople. The Dyet have given their Opinions on the Baron de Gyllenstierna's Affairs. The Nobility, and the Ecclesiastical Estates, have voted, that the Baron de Gyllenstierna has been guilty of Treason, and therefore ought to suffer the Penalty due to Traitors. The Order of Burghers has voted, that it is absolutely necessary to make an Example of the Baron de Gyllenstierna, and that therefore they thought it reasonable for the Government to demand of the Count de Tessin, that he should recall him. What Resolution the Dyet will take as to this we don't yet know. However, the Baron de Gyllenstierna, who fell sick upon his being taken up, is every Day worse and worse. The Count de Tessin, who has no important Affairs in this City, to depart forthwith. M. Bestuchef has dispatch'd five Couriers to Petersburg within five Days, and has order'd them to go different Ways, if he was afraid they would be stopp'd: But he is too tenacious of the Law of Nations, to be for any such Apprehension.

March 21. N. S. The Court has caus'd the Count de Tessin, formerly Secretary to the Velt-marshall de Mecklenburg, to be put under an Arrest, he being accus'd of having carried on a dangerous Plot of Sicknefs; and he goes every now and then to Court since his Arrest, and is graciously receiv'd by the Great Council, and the Duke of Wolfenbuttel her Regent. Some ascribe the late Change in the Ministry to the late Change in the Ministry of Sweden and Silesia. Since that Time the Count de Tessin is charg'd with the Care of Foreign Affairs. The Prince de Fischerkaskoi, in conjunction with the Count de Golofkin, has the Direction of all Affairs. The Preparations for War are carrying on with Diligence, and the Forces are every where in Motion, notwithstanding the Severity of the Weather.

Petersbourg, March 10. General Lowendahl set out from hence on the 8th Instant, to return to his Government of Revel; having had the Command given him of the Felt Marshal Count Munich's Regiment of Cuirassiers, which is in Quarters there. The Turkish Ambassador who is on his Way hither will make a Halt at Novogorod, till the Waters are open for the more easy Conveyance of his Retinue and Baggage in Boats thro' the Canal of Ladoga.

Berlin, April 4. The Prince of Anhalt Dessau set out from hence four Days ago, to take upon him the Command of the Army of Observation which is to be drawn together between Brandenburg and Magdebourg. It is to consist of 36000 Men; some of the Troops have begun to march to the General Rendezvous, and it is reckoned that within three Weeks the Camp will be completely formed. Proper Orders have been issued for sending thither Forage and Provisions necessary for subsisting those Troops. A Battalion of the Regiment of Groben came hither on the 28th past, and on the 29th proceeded on their March for the Army of Observation. Prince Ferdinand of Prussia's Regiment followed them the next Day; and the two Battalions of the Regiment of Flans have since taken the same Route from hence. The Regiment of Horse of Bredau is on the March to Silesia, whither 200 Recruits for the Hussars in the King's Army are likewise ordered: They are to be armed and mounted at Francfort on the Oder. The King has resolv'd to send hither the Persons that plotted against him in Silesia, and 'tis said the Foreign Ministers will be invited to be present at their Examination. 'Tis now said the Elector of Saxony will be one of the principal Candidates for the Imperial Dignity.

From the general Quarters at Olmutz, March 25. N. S. 'Tis generally believed the Troops will all march out of their Quarters next Monday to the Relief of Neufs, of which 'tis said the Prussians are to begin the Siege this very Day. The Fortifications of the Place are in the Antiquo Manner, and the Works added to it this Winter are so inconsiderable, that 'tis not in a Condition to hold out long; so that we shall very soon hear of an Action, if 'tis in earnest resolv'd to relieve it. The Forces leave part of their heavy Baggage here, that they may march with the more Ease. Some Prussian Deferters are come hither, who report, that two Days ago there were 11000 Men but a small Distance from Neufs.

Vienna, March 29. N. S. We have Letters from Silesia which contradict the News we had from Olmutz, that the Prussians impress all young Fellows who are fit to carry Arms, and they say they only take such into their Service as come in voluntarily, and that a great Number of Protestants offer themselves. Every Prussian Defserter that arrives on the Frontier is allowed a Pass and four Florins to proceed on his Way. According to the last List we receiv'd there had been no less than 2000 given out nine or ten Days ago.

Paris, April 12. N. S. The Duke de Chartres will set out next Month, with the King's Leave, to travel for two Years in Foreign Parts. He will begin with a Visit to French Flanders, from whence he will proceed to the Austrian Netherlands, and from thence he will go, incognito, to Francfort. After some Weeks Stay there he will take a Progress to all the chief Courts of Germany, and then to Italy.

Notwithstanding the Report of the Marquis d'Antin's having beat Sir Chaloner Ogle in the West Indies, yet as the Court has had no Advice of it, his Lady has declin'd to receive any Compliments thereupon. However we may expect to hear great News from America, considering that our Court persists in their Resolution, as set forth in their Manifesto, not to permit the English to make any Conquests in that Country, and as the English on the other hand make it plainly appear, that they are not in a Temper to receive any Law from our Court.

The King has given the Post of Lieutenant-Colonel of the Italian Royal Regiment, vacant by the Death of the Prince of Carignan, to the Count de St. Severin, his Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Sweden. His Swedish Majesty has nominated the Count de Tessin to be his Envoy Extraordinary at this Court, till there comes another in the room of the Baron de Flemming, who is recall'd. The King has made the Count de Maurepas Protector of the Opera, in the room of the late Prince of Carignan. This deceased Prince was Victor Amadeus of Savoy, First Prince of the Blood of Savoy, Duke of Carignan Yvoy. When he dy'd he was 51 Years, 1 Month, and 4 Days old, being born the 28th of February, 1690. He was a Lieutenant-General of the King's Army, besides being Lieutenant-Colonel of the Italian Royal Regiment above-mentioned. He was Son to Emanuel Philibert Amadeus of Savoy, the Prince of Carignan, who dy'd the 13th of April, 1709. and of Mary Angelica of Est, who dy'd the 18th of July, 1722. On the 17th of November, 1714. he marry'd Victoria Francesca of Savoy, Daughter of the King of Sardinia, by which Marriage he had Prince Lewis Victor of Savoy (who is marry'd to the Princess Christina Henrietta of Hesse-Rhinfels) and a Princess.

Genoa, March 29. N. S. The English Ship that was brought in hither by a Catalan Privateer, has been declar'd good Prize. She is going to be sold, together with her Cargo, the Produce of which, 'tis reckon'd, will amount to 30 or 35000 Pieces of Eight. 'Tis believ'd that the Captain, who is supported by the Consul of his Nation who is the greatest Share in it, will redeem her, and that then he will carry her to the Place whither she was bound; consequently all the Loss will fall upon the Insuranciers at London.

The Royal BEAUTIFYING FLUID

SO exceedingly valued by Ladies for its Quality and all who have used it, for its excellency in Beautifying the Face, Neck, and Hands, most exquisite Perfection possible, is to be had at Radford's Toyshop at the Rose and Crown against the Church-yard in the Strand.

It gives an inexpressible fine Air to the Features on the Spot, and a surprising Handfulness to the Hands, which it immediately makes exceedingly soft and delicately white.

Nothing in the World can sooner or more completely away all disagreeable Redness, Spots, Pimples, Blemishes, Morpew, Worms in the Face, Marks of the Sun-burn, or any other Discolouring, nor remove it so perfectly; for it quickly makes the Skin remarkably fine, clear, plump, soft, and beautiful, to cause Admiration in the Beholders.

It really gives a most engaging resplendent and whole Countenance, and causes sparkling Life, while Bloom to reign in every Feature, and yet no Paint, but far exceeds it, by its bringing the Colour of the Face, Neck, or Hands, and the brow, to a natural, youthful Fairness, Smoothness, and shining Delicacy, which Paint only faintly imitates, this ROYAL BEAUTIFIER prepared from the volatile of Mercury, or any Thing Metaline, but is perfectly safe and may be given inwardly even to Children, a pleasant Scent, will not soil the finest Laces, or agreeable to use.

But these its admirable Properties, by which it exceeds any Thing whatever for the like Purpose, have many to imitate it under various other Names, and for of such Impositions, the true ROYAL BEAUTIFYING FLUID, that has given such universal Satisfaction to Ladies of Distinction, being only to be had at Radford's Toyshop above-mentioned at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, and no where else in England.
